October 26, 2013

Registration and coffee starts at 8am

Workshops from 9am – 2pm!

Cut to the Core is a teacher-led conference; for educators, by educators!

Join us for an opportunity to come together in a low-pressure and collaborative environment. Featuring interactive, participatory workshops focusing on topics related to the Common Core, and opportunities for informal discussions with other educators, including resource sharing, and problem solving.

Come and learn from each other, share resources, and network!

For professional development purposes, Certificates of Participation will be available by participant request at the end of the day.

Educators in Action are a cabinet of educators who meet regularly with Commissioner Gist, and advise her on policies that affect Rhode Island teachers and administrators; they were the catalyst behind the expansion of the Teacher of the Year Program and introduced the idea that led to the Professional Learning Community mini-grants that were awarded to 12 groups of educators last year.
